

Year 6 - Grammar Task – Relative Clauses
Week 1 - 23.03.2020

Match the Clause

The sentences below all contain a main clause and a relative clause. A relative clause comes after the noun to which they add more information. They usually start with a relative pronoun (e.g. which, who, whose, when, where).

The sentences below have been mixed up! Please match the main clause to the relative clause that suits it best.

Main Clauses	Relative Clauses
I go swimming at 7 a.m.,	whose hair curls in the same way.
Robert is a very hard-working boy,	which I am allergic to.
I can't eat the sandwich because it has peanut butter inside it,	when I was 8 years old.
My sister looks like my mum,	who always does his homework.
We moved house in 2014,	where my mum can keep an eye on me.
Jaguars live in the rainforest,	who built many pyramids.
The Egyptians were great architects,	where it is hot and humid.
I have to play inside the house,	which means I don't have breakfast until 8:30 a.m.
The flying boy is called Peter Pan,	whose home is in Neverland.

Two Become One

Emma likes to write songs and has written some sentences for her new song. However, she thinks the sentences are too short for the music and would like to combine them to make a longer, complex sentence. Help her to make two sentences become one by changing the pronoun in the second sentence into a relative pronoun and joining the two together (remember to add a comma before the relative pronoun). For example:

Mrs Smith was my teacher. She taught me in Year 2.
Mrs Smith was my teacher, who taught me in Year 2.

Use these relative pronouns to help you:

who	which	when	where	whose
------------	--------------	-------------	--------------	--------------

1. I like to eat pizza. It's my favourite food.

2. My alarm broke this morning. This meant I was late for school.

3. My best friends are Mel and Victoria. They walk with me to school.

4. I started school in reception class. I still had blonde hair.

5. I have a friend called Geri. Her house is next door to mine.

6. I eat in the hall. It's always very noisy.

7. My headteacher is Mr Johnson. He has a friendly smile.

Add a Relative Clause

Relative clauses usually add more information about a noun in a sentence. They help make your work more interesting for the reader. Below is a list of simple sentences with a relative pronoun at the end. Please rewrite each sentence again and add a sensible relative clause. Remember to add a comma before the relative pronoun. For example:

I can't swim. which

I can't swim, which means that I don't like going near water.

1. Spain is a very hot country. where

2. JK Rowling is a famous author. who

3. Hamid is having a party next year. when

4. The girl in the dress is Cinderella. whose

5. A cat has sharp claws. which

6. Sarah looks just like her mum. whose

7. Usain Bolt is a sprinter. who

8. Children don't always go to school. where

9. People keep their pets indoors on Bonfire Night. when

10. A bike has brakes. which

Luke likes playing football.

Luke, who is very sporty, likes to play football.

In the example above, the relative clause has been placed in the middle of the sentence after the noun 'Luke' that it gives more information about. Think of it as a cheeseburger. The relative clause is the meat that fills the middle of the bun and the bun is the main clause. Complete the cheeseburgers below by adding an embedded clause to the burger.

There are two types of relative clauses: essential relative clauses and non-essential relative clauses. The difference is as follows:

Essential relative clause: It cannot be left out of the sentence without affecting the meaning. In the sentence below, if you take out the relative clause, it changes the meaning of the sentence:

It reminded him of the house that he used to live in.

Non-essential relative clause: This can be left out of the sentence without changing the meaning. If you removed the relative clause from the sentence below, the sentence would still make perfect sense.

The boy, who liked sports, was playing football.

Look at the sentences below. Decide if the relative clause in each sentence is essential or non-essential. By the end of each sentence, please write essential or non-essential. The first one has been done for you.

1. My sister, who lives in Madrid, came to visit me last month. Non-essential _____
2. It is best not to stroke a dog that you don't know. _____
3. Nell likes to go walking, which helps her keep fit. _____
4. Fish, which have gills, live in the sea. _____
5. Christopher Columbus, who discovered America, was from Italy. _____
6. For their camping trip, the children need clothes that are washable. _____
7. Maisie often plays with dolls, which can keep her busy for hours. _____
8. The Dodo, which was a flightless bird, became extinct in 1681. _____
9. A tiger's fur is covered in stripes, which it uses for camouflage. _____
10. My dad went to hospital with a broken thumb that he hit with a hammer. _____

My Relatives

Now try and use relative clause in an independent piece of writing. Write a description about a member of your family or members of your family using relative clauses to add extra information to your sentences. For example:

My mum, who has brown hair, is a policewoman.

Her favourite food is chicken curry, which we eat every Friday night.

She loves the park in our hometown that she always played in as a child.

Use the relative clause checklist when you have finished your work to see how well you have done.

My Relative Clause Checklist

Target	Tick
I have included relative clauses to add extra information about nouns.
I have used relative pronouns to start my relative clauses: who , where , when , whose , which or that .
I have used a comma (or commas when embedded) for non-essential relative clauses.
I have read my work back to make sure it all makes sense.

A Parent's Guide to Terminology

Terminology	Explanation
Relative pronoun	These are used to connect a clause to a noun or pronoun. The relative pronouns used in this booklet are: who, whose, which, where, when. 'That' is also used to replace who or which in essential relative clauses.
Relative clause	This is used to add information about a noun so it must be related to the noun. For example: She lives in Manchester, which is in North West England. I don't like the clown, who has a bright, red nose. Emma is my friend, whose house is next door to mine.
Embedded 'drop in' clause	A relative clause is said to be 'embedded' if it is added to the middle of a main clause. It is then separated from the rest of the sentence by commas. For example: The cat, who had bright eyes, walked down the gloomy street.
Non-essential relative clause	A non-essential relative clause is non-essential information within a sentence and is separated from the main clause with a comma (or surrounding commas if it is embedded).
Essential relative clause	A essential relative clause is essential information within a sentence and does not need commas to separate it from the main clause. Essential relative clauses often begin with the relative pronoun 'that'.
